INTERGENERATIONAL SUSTAINABILITY

COMMUNITY | EMPOWERMENT | OPPORTUNITY

I believe that in this globalized world we are each global citizens. When complex issues are broken down to a community level, together and as individuals, we have the incredible capability to create positive change.

In partnership with Mama Hope and Running Chicken, I will be traveling to Kisumu, Kenya to implement community-driven projects that will establish economic, social, and environmental sustainability across generations by empowering local leaders, women, and children to reach their full potential. Together we will build a new home for the Children's Rescue Mission (CRM) to provide safe housing for orphans in the community. We will rehabilitate the greenhouse and poultry farm to support the CRM as well as train community members in income generating opportunities. A job-training program for widows will also be implemented to empower them to be self-sustainable. These projects will generate positive change throughout the immediate community, as well as for generations to come.

I am raising $20,000 to support these community driven projects, and will travel to Kenya in October to work directly with the community! To learn more or donate online, please visit give.classy.org/EliseRC !
