SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP

CONNECT | COLLABORATE | CREATE

I believe that social businesses can change the world. Local entrepreneurs are in the ideal position to identify business solutions to the social, economic, and environmental problems that exist in their own communities and provide much needed job creation.

In partnership with Mama Hope and Anza, I will be traveling to Moshi, Tanzania in October to work with local social entrepreneurs. Anza is a nonprofit organization that exists to help start and scale social businesses. A social business is one that is created and designed to address a social problem. Anza believes that entrepreneurs can improve the lives of every low and middle-income family in Tanzania, through the provision of life changing products and services

In 2015, Anza launched the largest co-working space in Tanzania -- Kili Hub Moshi. This space enables social impact organizations and businesses to work together, towards a Tanzania where every person has the opportunity to improve their lives. Within the Kilimanjaro Region, information, skills, and resources aren't mobilized efficiently and organizations face many similar challenges. However, through working together, sharing skills and knowledge, we can overcome these challenges.

I am raising $20,000 and will travel to Tanzania in October to support the expansion of Kili Hub! To learn more or donate online, please visit give.classy.org/NicoleSullivan
